Seeds of Change

नवांकुर : Our Green Journey!

This summer, the corridors of RPS International School-Rosewood City echoed with more than just learning; they resonated with compassion, purpose and the promise of sustainability. Under the inspiring vision of our respected Chairperson ma'am- Dr. Pavitra Rao, July and August became a living tapestry of what a united community can achieve when driven by a cause greater than itself.

Our journey began with the heartfelt campaign - "Har Haath Kitaab 3.0 : A Book in Every Child's Hand." In collaboration with Inchpaper, Team Green Brigade and lamGurgaon, our RPSians and their families came together to breathe new life into what many saw as discarded. Each page collected became a promise of hope for underprivileged children, transforming waste into wisdom. Since 2023, this initiative has saved 10,000+ trees and 36.3 lakh litres of water, a reminder that even the smallest acts can create ripples of monumental change.

And then, came the moment of pride that crowned our efforts: the National Green School Ranking 2025 by the Green Mentors Organisation, where we proudly secured the 4th Rank in India. This recognition is more than an honour, it is proof of the sustainable lifestyle we have embraced as a family. From making our houses 85% plastic-free, to practicing mindful waste segregation, nurturing green spaces with tree plantations and crafting recycled marvels, our learners stand as true torchbearers of sustainability.

Looking back, these two months weren't just a passage of time, they were a season of purpose. A time when giving, creating and caring became second nature. A time when we proved that the true heart of a school beats strongest in the hands that give, the minds that innovate and the spirits that rise for a better tomorrow.

CREATIVITY IS A PROCESS, NOT AN EVENT

written by JAMES CLEAR

In 1666, one of the most influential scientists in history was strolling through a garden when he was struck with a flash of creative brilliance that would change the world.

While standing under the shade of an apple tree, Sir Isaac Newton saw an apple fall to the ground. “Why should that apple always descend perpendicularly to the ground,” Newton wondered. “Why should it not go sideways, or upwards, but constantly to the earth’s center? Assuredly, the reason is, that the earth draws it. There must be a drawing power in matter.”

And thus, the concept of gravity was born.

The story of the falling apple has become one of the lasting and iconic examples of the creative moment. It is a symbol of the inspired genius that fills your brain during those “eureka moments” when creative conditions are just right.

What most people forget, however, is that Newton worked on his ideas about gravity for nearly twenty years until, in 1687, he published his groundbreaking book, The Principia: Mathematical Principles of Natural Philosophy. The falling apple was merely the beginning of a train of thought that continued for decades. The famous page describing Newton’s apple incident in Memoirs of Sir Isaac Newton’s Life by William Stukeley.

Newton isn’t the only one to wrestle with a great idea for years. Creative thinking is a process for all of us.
