Event Completion Report

An expert lecture on “Moral Values and Student’s Life” was organized by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of RPS Degree College, Balana, Mahendgarh in Seminar Hall, PG Block on April, 4th 2022 at 11:00 AM. Sh. Hariprakash Joshi, Assistant Professor of Hindi was the keynote speaker of the expert lecture. Lecture started with welcome address by Dr. Davender Singh, Principal, RPSDC followed by a brief introduction about the programme. Sh. Hariprakash Joshi started his session. He said that the noble ideas or rules that one adheres to in order to discriminate between good and wrong are known as moral values. These principles or virtues are seen to be beneficial for enhancing one's character. Moral value is the collective term for the positive traits like honesty, integrity, truthfulness, compassion, helpfulness, love, respect, and hard work. He emphasised the value of moral principles in student life, saying that these principles can be used to judge whether a student has a good or terrible character. Moral principles are a fantastic way to promote peace and harmony because when everyone acts morally, there is no need for disaster or conflict. Lecture was ended with vote of thanks by Dean Academics.
